SINOPSIS

“Bela America” is a social dramedy about Lucas, a talented cook who seduces America, a television star and presidential candidate, deciding to conquer her with his culinary talent.

“Bela America” it’s a tale about social inequality, ambition and family bonds, addressing the rise of populism among poor sectors of the society.

In this feature, there are two characters that symbolise two different universes: Lucas represents the vast majority with dreams to fulfil; the working class that sustains the base of the social pyramid. América, on the other hand, represents the universe of the “winners” who stand at the top, the decision makers.

This film is an attempt to cross the boundary that divides these two universes: Lucas and his family, people who are exploited in the “uberised” society, and América’s “exuberant, fearless and sheltered world.
